Once, a small town was visited by a saint. As the saint passed by a small hut, a woman came to him and begged him to pray for her dying child. Since the saint was new to the town, a crowd gathered around him, curious to see if he could do anything. The woman brought the sick child out to him and he said a prayer over her. Do you really think your prayer will help the child, when even medicine has failed? After all, they are just some words!', yelled a man from the crowd. The saint turned and started shouting at the man, 'You idiot, you don't know what I am doing! Just shut up!' The man was furious! His face grew red and hot. 'How dare you insult me!', he shouted at the saint. The saint smiled at him calmly and said, 'If one word has the power to make you so angry, may not another word have the power to heal this child?'
